Unlock the Power of Our Professional Network

By Mike Hanna

Tapping into the rich network of professionals we associate with has many benefits. Having worked with a wide variety of families with a wide variety of needs, our networks often include everything from accountants and attorneys to high-end tailors and travel agents.

The importance of this can't be overstated. Leveraging our network can help with:

Coordination: Collaborating with other professionals helps to ensure that every aspect of your financial plan is aligned. We work together to consider all aspects of our life, providing solutions that are designed to encompass not just your financial goals but also your lifestyle, family needs, and long-term aspirations.

Reliability: We build our networks based on trust and expertise. This reduces the risk you face by finding and evaluating professionals on your own.

Forward Thinking: Engaging with our network equips you with strategies to stay ahead. For instance, a cyber security consultant could advise you on upcoming digital security trends, helping you with safeguarding your assets and personal information against emerging online threats. It's unlikely that most of us would engage this type of professional on our own.

So, what professionals should you consider leveraging? Here's a short list to get you started:

1. Estate Planning Attorney: Expertise in wills, trusts, and estate management.
2. Tax Attorney: Specialized in advanced tax planning strategies.
